CHARLEROI EXPECTED TO GO $150,000 OVER THE QUOTA

Returns Are Not All In and Totals Are Not Yet Available

AREA MAKES GREAT SHOWING

Chairman Patterson, of the local Liberty Loan campaign, expects Charleroi to go at least $150,000 over its quota. All the returns are not yet in, belated ones are being slowly sent into headquarters. The Pittsburg Steel Company contribution is expected not later than this evening, while a number of other subscriptions, which were delayed for a number of reasons, are expected to be reported to headquarters very soon. The subscription of the Pittsburg Steel Products company, $125,000, has been turned in, and apportioned among the three banks of Charleroi, according to the quotas assigned to them.

Chairman Patterson also expects all of the surrounding communities to make up their quotas. If this expectation is realized, it will mean that the Charleroi aera will go away over the quota assigned. Reports were not available on Monday from Long Branch or Elco, while Fallowfield township with a quota of $125,000, is expected to meet the obligation.

It will likely be several days before the final figures are available, but Chairman Patterson is making every effort to secure them that a full report of the campaign may be made at the earliest possible date. He is satisfied that we are away over the top, which will increase the totals of the county to a considerable extent. Washington county will go at least two million dollars over and above the quota of nine millions of dollars, which is certainly a wonderful showing, considering the fact that last spring the county subscribed over six millions of dollars to the Third Liberty Loan. The greater the burden the greater the response, seems to be the slogan of the county, and even if the next loan shall be greater the county will be ready to take its full share of the issue.

REGULATIONS FOR CANNING SUGAR

J. L. Lockhart, Food Administrator for Washington County, Washington, Pa. General sale of sugar upon canning and preserving certificates and their redemption by County Administrators will be discontinued after October 15th. Persons desiring to preserve hereafter may make written application to County Administrators, setting forth the amount sugar, quantity and variety of fruit, vegetables or meats they desire to preserve, upon which County Administrators may issue approved certificates which will bear the written or stamped endorsement of the County Administrator. These certificates will be honored by retail grocers and redeemed as previous canning certificates have been presented to County Administrators.

Howard Heinz, Federal Food Administrator of Pennsylvania.

QUESTIONAIRES TO ALL REGISTRANTS

All local draft boards have been notified to begin sending questionnaires to men of the class of September 12 who have not been sent the papers. Mailing was started on Monday and thousands of blanks will be sent out. All movements of drafted men from Pennsylvania have been postponed until further notice by direction of the war department, but men called for Camp Greenleaf may be summoned again when the influenza epidemic subsides.

SOLDIER BROTHERS MEET IN FRANCE

Mrs. Charles Bromwich, of 531 Washington avenue, is in receipt of the following letter from her son:

Ecommoy, Sarthe, Sept. 26, 1918—Dear Mother and all—It is with happy thoughts that I write this letter to let you know of something that happened and that you have wished for several times in your letters to me. It happened yesterday morning. I had been working at my trade which I have taken up since coming over here, and had gone to the dentists. Coming from the dentist's room I went to my billets when the Corporal said, "Say, Bill, did you see your brother?" This sentence so overjoyed me that I asked excitedly, "Where is he?"

Well, he had been at my billets and I not being there he was told to go where I was working. He had been looking for me and I was looking for him. We met at the kitchen. All the boys lined up for dinner, and talk about a meeting. I was so happy and he the same that some of the boys in the mess line had to sob a little. He is a grand large fellow and he had on leather puttes and a figure 6 on his cap, which looked like a silver bar. No one but officers are allowed to wear these leather puttes, so when I saw him I came to attention and saluted. He laughed and by this time we had locked arms around each other. He had received a pass for two days to come and see me, and losing all his belongings in his dugout when he was injured the Captain at the hospital loaned him his leggings and shoes to wear.

The boy with whom I was working told me not to come back to work until my brother's pass was up and I didn't. We had a nice dinner at one of the cafes, and in the afternoon we walked out in the country to see Bill Ludwig, who is stationed near here. And last evening I visited a family of French people of whom I have spoken before, where we spent a very enjoyable evening. Had a French soldier there who played a number of selections on a violin and also several piano selections. This morning we hired bicycles and rode out to the rifle range, where I had been working, and also to see Bill Ludwig again.

Walter's wounds have healed wonderfully, but he was lucky. His grit and courage helped a whole lot. I could see that his experience, which consisted of eight months on the British, French and American fronts, was certainly marvelous, to hear him tell it. It makes a fellow feel want-

PENALIZED FOR SALE OF FLOUR

Outside grocers and flour dealers who deliver flour to customers in Charleroi without the additional cereals provided for by the food administration do so at their own risk, and stand a chance of being penalized for their violation of the regulations as laid down by the administration. Recently it came to the attention of the local food administrator that T. F. Meacci, of Belle Vernon, had been delivering flour to customers in Charleroi without the necessary cereals. After securing the necessary evidence the facts were laid before Mr. Davidson, food administrator for Fayette county, who imposed a penalty on Meacci forbidding him to sell flour for a period of thirty days.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR DAVID ANDERSON

Saturday evening last a farewell party was held in honor of David Anderson, at his home on Sixth street. Mr. Anderson left Monday morning for Paris Island, where he will prepare for service in the U. S. Marines. He was the recipient of a fine watch and many other valuable presents. Refreshments were served to about forty guests by his mother.

HUNTING SEASON IS WITH US ONCE MORE

Open season for killing of rabbits begins November 1 and continues until December 15th. Squirrels may be killed between October 20th and November 30th. Both rabbits and gray squirrels are said to be very plentiful this fall.

BOY SCOUTS TAKE PART IN CAMPAIGN

During the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, which closed so successfully Saturday evening last, the Boy Scouts of Charleroi sold bonds to the amount of $8,000. Among the subscriptions were three sales for $500 each. The Boy Scouts worked under the direction of Chairman W. B. Patterson, and while the amount of their sales was not so large, yet the spirit exhibited is certainly deserving of the highest commendation. At the present time the Boy Scouts have no place of meeting, and they would appreciate some offer whereby they would have a regular place to assemble, under proper supervision.

PLANS FOR A NEW TYPE STEAMBOAT

Capt. Harry McGuire, of the Diamond Coal Company, has completed the preparing of plans for a new type boat, which, if successful, will revolutionize steamboating on inland waters. According to the plans, which show a boat of the propeller type, compressed air will be used and the inventor claims that on 75 pounds of air pressure he can accomplish as much as under 250 pounds of steam. The plans calls for extra rudders and propellers, while economy is one of the features. Only 75 pounds of steam will be required to generate the air, which will eliminate much of the expensive and heavy machinery now used.

LOCAL HEALTH SITUATION WAS DISCUSSED AT MONDAY MEETING

GREENE COUNTY SCHOOLS ARE DIRECTED TO CLOSE

The schools of Greene county have all been closed until further notice as a measure to prevent the spread of influenza. County Superintendent H. D. Freeland, Monday night, acting under instructions from Dr. Hal... liams, representing the state health department, has sent out notices to all the schools to close and remain closed until orders to the contrary are issued. The parents are instructed to keep their children at home and not permit them to run around in public places.

CHARLEROI BOY WAS IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Thomas Wakefield, of 101 Eighth street, is in receipt of a letter from her son, Private J. F. Wakefield, of Company I, 104th Infantry, now with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. The letter was dated Sunday evening, September 22, in an evacuation hospital, and he says:

Dear Mother—I am in the hospital now; was operated on Saturday at 11 o'clock, for temporary aukylosis. I came out of the ether very nicely, it did not even make me sick. I was very hungry though, for I had not eaten anything for six days, but they feed me all I can eat now. I am certainly glad to say that everything worked in my favor.

They have the finest doctors and nurses here in this hospital. I really hate to leave, but I guess I will be evacuated soon to the base hospital, where they can take better care of me. This is only a receiving hospital. I had been through two others before I came to this one. But never worry, for I am o.k. and feeling fine. When you get this letter I hope I will be back with my company.

Tell everybody I know that I send them my best regards. Tell Papa I am having a wonderful time with the Huns. They run like sin when they see us coming. I am sending you a picture of a German soldier that I captured one morning just at daybreak. I had to shoot him. He started to run away but did not get very far. There were two of them. They had a machine gun hid under a pine tree. The other lad gave himself up.

Well, Mother, don't worry about me for I am getting along fine, and it won't be long now until I am a well man again. So hoping these few lines reaches you soon. I remain as ever, your son. Frank Wakefield, Co. I, 104th Inf. A. E. F., France.

NOTICE.

By order of the Board of Health of Charleroi, from and after this date all residents of the borough will be required to take care of the sweepings from the pavement in front of their respective places of business or homes. These sweepings must not be placed in the street but must be gathered up and burned or placed in the garbage can. Any violations of this order will be dealt with according to law.

Public Schools Allowed To Continue in Session for The Present

MAY SECURE ANTI-TOXIN SUPPLY

Local health conditions are being closely watched by the authorities, that any epidemic from the Spanish influenza may be prevented.

Acting along this line a meeting of the members of the Board of Health and the School Board, the Burgess, Health Officer, as well as a number of other prominent citizens was held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the director's room of the Bank of Charleroi. Dr. C. B. Wood, of Monongahela, State Medical officer for Washington county, was present and advised with the members, and expressed the opinion that the public schools should be closed for the time being. This phase of the situation was discussed at some length, at which time it was stated that efforts were being made to secure a supply of anti-toxin, which would be used against the malady, but so far it had been impossible to obtain it. The Pittsburg Chapter of the Red Cross had promised a supply to Charleroi, but as they were disappointed the local officials are looking to the manufacturers, and expect to receive word some time today as to whether it can be obtained.

It seemed to be the consensus of opinion among the Board of Health and School Board members that the schools could be continued in session in safety at the present time, but to close them if there was the least sign of an epidemic.

Monday evening the physicians of Charleroi held a meeting, at which time the local health situation was discussed. A few cases of influenza were reported in the borough, and according to information seemed to be on the increase, but conditions are not alarming. For this reason the physicians deemed it prudent to continue with the sessions of the schools for the immediate present, but to have them closed at once should the situation change at any time in the future.

All other necessary precautions are being taken to prevent any spread of the disease, and for the time being the ban is continued on all public gatherings, while it is possible a stricter regulation may be imposed on funerals.

PUTTING IT OVER

The splendid success which attended the Fourth Liberty Loan bond campaign should be a sufficient guarantee to the government that the people are unreservedly back of our executives and that the people are practically unanimous in their determination to win this war without a compromise of any kind. The best answer the Kaiser could get to his "notes" which have been emanating from Berlin is the returns from the bond campaign, now coming in rapidly and which show that while the boys are fighting in France the people back home the providing the money to finance the undertaking.

Moreover the people want the military campaign pushed just like the bond campaign, to a glorious and victorious finish. The Germans are now rapidly evacuating the Belgian and French territory they have held for the past four years, but their hold is being hammered loose by the allied armies, and soon there will not be a German soldier, unless he be a prisoner, either in Belgium or France. Some say the Germans will retire to their borders—we do not know that this will be the case, but in any event they are headed toward Berlin and the allies are compelling them to speed up their movement to the rear.

Locally our people are to be congratulated over the outcome of the campaign, which was such a huge success. It was a great undertaking to sell such a large amount of bonds in this immediate vicinity, but the people responded nobly to the occasion and the task was accomplished. Of course it required preparation, organization and determination to do this, but all the essentials were supplied by the local committees and the various workers and the job was well taken care of. And when Uncle Sam needs another bond issue we will be just as ready to take care of it as the last one

SUCCESSIVE THEORIES

For many years the reading world was taught that man is the child of the monkey and it required a bold spirit to lay claim to culture without acknowledging the fatherhood of the ancestral ape. After a timea celebrated student announced the discovery that man is fully as old as the monkey, if not older, even suggesting that the latter might be a degenerate descendant of the former The new view was based on a small muscle in the thigh of man, the musclus biceps femoris, not found in the monkey tribe or in any of the climbing mammals. From this it was reasoned that man is a form of life springing directly from an original source without the interposition of other species. It was argued that man could no longer be regarded as the product of ages of progression from lower and less perfect creatures, but must be looked upon as "a central mammal and primate form primitive in limbs and teeth, highly developed solely through the development of the brain." Modern monkeys on the other hand, were characterized as "one-sided misformations and for the most part degenerate forms."

Meanwhile these successive theories as to man's origin disturbed the great majority but little. Conservative-minded folk, the old fashioned, the simple (and the wise) continued to believe, as their fathers did before them, that there are more things in heaven and earth than are dreamt of by any of our philosophers, remaining unshaken in their confidence that it has not been for nothing that all races in all ages have believed man to be more than an animal and to have an immortal part. There have been evidences of a strengthening of this old conviction during these recent war years which have witnessed the sudden hurling into eternity of so much of the flower of the world's young manhood.

KEEPING BOOKS

France and Belgium are "keeping books" on Germany, and when the war is over each of these countries will have a bill of immense proportions for the Hun to pay. As the lands of Belgium and France are being cleared of the Germans we are getting what we are able to see just what the exponents of "Kultur" have been doing during the past four years with the property and the lands occupied by the Huns during all this period.

The picture presented to the homecoming refugees is not one to cause cheer on the part of those who are now returning to their homelands, for it is asserted that the part of Belgium that has been reclaimed was found to be a desolate waste and no high hopes are entertained that the portion still held will be less marked by the uncivilized hand of the German madman. The portion of France occupied by the Germans for so long is in the same condition and when both countries shall have all the data at hand they will be able to formulate a just bill which the Germans should be compelled to pay, and with interest.

It will be an indemnity that will be tremendous in size, but it should be exacted with justice from the people who were the cause of it. After paying for their robbery and thievery it may enter the minds of these German kulturists that it pays to be decent, even in warfare.

WHEN FRESH VEGETABLES ARE SCARCE.

When fall came on and the fresh vegetables from her war garden were no longer available she began to grow worried. She had grown to depend on a delicious salad for the chief dish at her noon luncheon. But by means of her cook books, bulletins and recollections of good things she had prepared, she soon realized that she could continue to serve salads which were not only palatable and nourishing but patriotic as well.

This is part of the list which she kept for reference so that her family would not grow tired of sameness in her salads:

Flaked fish, celery, and mayonnaise.

Cabbage, nuts and boiled dressing.

Beets, salmon, and boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

Chopped turnips with boiled dressing.

Cold baked beans with chopped onions and boiled mayonnise dressing.

Cottage cheese with slices of egg and boiled or mayonnaise dressing.

Apples, celery and nuts with mayonnaise.

Combination of different fruits which have been canned whole.

Potatoes and onions with dressing.

Salmon, onion and mayonnaise.

Prunes stuffed with cream cheese.

Chestnuts, celery and pimentoes with mayonnaise.

Every housekeeper will have many more combinations which she has successfully tried out. Keep a list of them and be sure that they are all war-time salads.

CALLED AID TO IDLENESS

Many Good Reasons Why the Banana Has a Perfect Right to That Classification.

Bananas, according to a legend current in tropical countries, are the original "apples" of the Garden of Eden along with the serpent and Mrs. Adam, the cause of man's fall. At least they tend to serve a similar purpose in these times, because they are about equal to the coconut palm as an aid to idleness.

An acre of bananas will yield 50 times as much food as an acre of potatoes and 150 times as much as wheat. The banana is immune to almost every plant disease and has fewer insect enemies than any other fruit. It will grow on poor land, if need be, and outdistance any weed or shrub that tries to contest its claim to soil and sunlight.

The banana is the "neither fish, flesh, nor fowl" of the plant kingdom. It is usually classified as a tree, but it is not a tree. Although it attains a height of 30 feet there is no wood fiber in the stalk. The bunches of fruit on the dwarf varieties are often heavier than the remainder of the plant. It is not a palm, nor an herb, nor a bush, nor a shrub, and it is not a vegetable. In some distant way it may be related to the grasses, but the relationship is so distant that it stands in a class by itself.

EASY TO DECEIVE INEXPERT

Imitation of Pictures by "Old Masters" Has Become What Might Be Termed a Business.

The most common method of counterfeiting an old picture is to cover a new one—painted, of course for the purpose—with a certain transparent paste which, when exposed to slight heat, cracks and becomes brown. If a sufficiently vulnerable tint has not been produced the canvas is washed with a mixture of lamp black and liquorice juice.

The picture is next exposed for some hours to the smoke of a wood fire and, the loose soot having been brushed away, it is rubbed here and there with a rag which has been dipped in very dilute sulphuric acid. This operation gives a moldy appearance to those parts which have been touched.

The work is finally sprinkled, by means of a toothbrush and a hairpin, with minute spots of a solution of sepia in gum water, to imitate fly-specks, and it is then ready for the market.

Signatures are imitated by experts, who are known as "monogramistes," and who devote their exclusive attention to such matters; and one of these men, who died recently, confessed to the forgery of no fewer than 17,000 signatures of the Italian masters alone, and said he had for years made a large income by the exercise of his art.

Old Story Disproved.

Most persons know the story told of Cleopatra, to illustrate her luxurious habits of living, that she dissolved in her wine a precious pearl. No one seems yet to have questioned what must have been the effect upon the drink, but scientists scoff at the possibility of such solution. The fact is pearls are not soluble in wine. The most powerful vinegar affects them slowly and never entirely dissolves them, for the organic matter remains behind in the shape of a spongy mass that is larger than the original pearl.

Great For Emergencies

San Cura Ointment Should Be in Every Home

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San-Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centreville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., Druggists, to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains and chaped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., druggists.

To Retain Friends.

To retain friends of the right sort means that one must prove a friend of similar caliber. But on the other hand, if a girl or woman is influenced only by display (which at best is an empty, shallow affair) she cannot hope to hold the sincere regard of persons who in truth are worth while The really level headed girl will cling fast to the honest friends of other less palmy days—perhaps to the friends who make no display but who are sterling through and through.—Exchange.

Elder Ducks.

Eider ducks are numerous everywhere in Norway. Being the producers of the valuable eiderdown, a staple article of trade in Norway, they are rigorously protected by law, and are in consequence so tame as in many places to approximate a domestic fowl. The birds are regarded with far from friendly eyes by the fishermen, by reason of the damage they work among the spawning beds of the fish. Lobsters in particular suffer severely from their devastations.

British Urged to Keep Goats.

"Goat getting" is coming right along as a national sport in England, says a London dispatch. Everyone who knows anything about Nannie is writing to the papers urging everyone to get one goat at least and more if possible and keep them. The right kind of goat yields about two quarts of milk daily and the gentlemen of the species—the boys with the Farmer Brown whiskers—are said to produce first-class mutton.

Famous Blarney Castle.

The ruins of old Blarney castle are a few miles outside of Cork, surrounded by pleasant Irish fields and gorgeous hawthorne hedges. The huge square tower stands as firm and true now as in the days when old Cormac McCarthy ruled over the land of Munster. The old chieftain built his castle to withstand English guns and English diplomacy and Blarney castle has kept the trust.

World's Coal Areas.

A good authority gives the coal area of the world in square miles as follows: United States, 192,000; British America, 18,000; Great Britain, 12,000; Spain, 4,000; France, 2,000; Germany, 1,800; Belgium, 518; rest of Europe, 100,000; China, 2,000; Japan, 5,000. Coal is found in commercial quantities in 27 of the states and territories of the United States and Alaska.

Bully for Bill.

There was a city lady visiting some relatives in the country and as she was walking down the lane she saw some calves. Thinking to display her knowledge she remarked: "Oh what pretty little cowlets." Bill, the farm boy, came up about that time, heard her remarks and said: "Excuse me, miss, but th[illegible]s bullets."—Boys' Life.

AMERICAN WOMEN LEAD THE WORLD

They Have Beauty, Health and Brains

"A really beautiful woman is always a healthy woman," remarked one of our noted beauty specialists, "for true beauty comes from the blood and strong, steady nerves."

Rich, red blood, the fountain of life and youth shows itself in a clear rosy skin, solid flesh, fine form and a keen bright mind. Red blooded women with energy and vitality are sought after by men. They are the hope and leaders of the world.

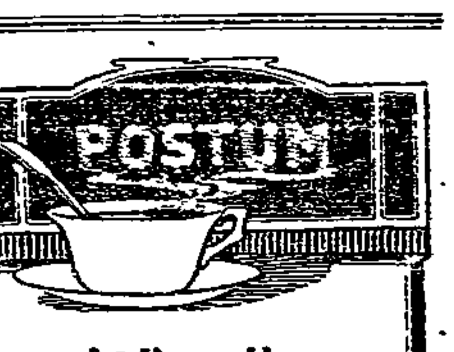

American women lead the world in health, beauty and intelligence, and their number is increasing. They have learned the value of Iron and Phosphates in keeping [illegible] in perfect condition.

"The number of weak, pale, fagged out, run down and nervous women is bound to decrease rapidly, once the power of Phosphated Iron becomes more generally known," said a leading [illegible]. "There is no reason in the world why women should not be strong, happy and attractive to look upon when the remedy is at hand. Phosphated Iron has accomplished wonders with my patients. It has restored health, vitality, strong nerves and happiness to whole families. It's the healthy red, iron blooded strong phosphate-fed nerved men and women that enjoy life and lead in every work". Think it over!

To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets—insist on capsules.

Glanders in the Cat Family.

Glanders is an ailment usually associated with horses, but an outbreak of this disease among the lions and tigers of the Rome zoological garden is reported in the Annali d'Igiene. The disease is known to have been transmitted from horses to lions, tigers and leopards, and the domestic cat was shown susceptible by laboratory inoculation.

...ing to go right up to the firing line; then again he thinks, that is no place for me. He had many souvenirs that were left in his dugout but ..., he has given away. I could write here for many hours telling you of his experiences if I were permitted but that would almost spoil his stories which he will have to tell when he gets home.

He does not know what he is to do yet until he is classified. He may be sent back to the front, but he thinks he will be held away from the lines for some time yet.

He certainly was an information bureau while here; the boys were all anxious to get some real news from the front, and they sure got it, as he knows everything, that is a little about all the occurrences that go on at the front, as he has been on all of them. Walter thinks we will be home for Easter dinner; we only hope we are.

Well, I will cut this letter short. Don't worry about Walter or me. He is looking and feeling fine and is pretty sure of not going back for awhile. I am still in the same place, with expectations of staying around for some time yet.

I am in A-1 condition and hope this letter will find you at home enjoying the best of health. With my regards to all my friends and acquaintances will close with a Zeppelin full of love and kisses. Your loving son and brother Wm. H. Bromwich, Co. E., 329th Infantry. American P. O. 762 American E. F.

APPEAL IS NOT ALLOWED BY COURT

In the case of the commonwealth against George J. Campbell, of Pittsburg, an appeal from the judgment of the Mayor of Monongahela, in an opinion handed down on Monday the court quashes the appeal. The conclusions of the court upon the record and evidence before it is that the payment of the fine and costs before the Mayor "must be taken to be a voluntary payment," and that "such payment put an end to the case, and there was on on July 14, when this appeal was taken, no judgment or sentence in existance and operation from which to appeal," and "the appeal was therefore improvidently allowed." Campbell was fined $25 and costs for violating the auto laws at Monongahela. He was alleged to have exceeded the speed limit.

THOSE WHO HELPED IN STREET MEETINGS

At the Liberty Loan street meetings held Saturday afternoon last Master George Gunderman was the youthfuul singer who caused such favorable comment, while Carl Atkins impersonated Uncle Sam. At the evening meeting A. F. Boucher sang "The Long, Long Trail," and Mr. Williams in company with Prof. Daniel and male quartet sang, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." T. L. Dainty also showed his ability at the flag pole by climbing to the peak.

POLICEMEN PUT A PADLOCK ON THESE DOORS

State Policeman Fox, of Uniontown was in Belle Vernon Monday of last week and gave hotel proprietors instructions not only to place a padlock on their bar rooms, but to be sure and see that it was locked. Foolish Fear of Poverty.

great deal of apparent poverty come from dread of poverty. A man saves every cent and goes mind and soul hungry, and, ten to one, he is starving somebody else at the same time along with himself. He is really poor, for the time being, although he has a large bank account.

Poverty will come every time as the result of the improper attitude toward money. Money is not a reality; it represents things that we consider for our good. But there is no poverty like that of the starved soul that shrinks and dries up into narrowness and compression. In getting the feeling of wealth look about you. See all the wonders of nature; believe that wonders will happen and then get ready for them.

After the day's work is done build air castles, and then go in and lay a strong foundation under one of them. Expect to develop into efficiency necessary for the bigger job. The key to this lies in your hands in doing the little things well.—Patrick Fenton in Nautilus.

Praise of Open Fires.

To many of us plain bread-and-butter persons praise of open fires sometimes seems a little too warm and comfortable—too smugly contemplative. We like open fires. We would have them in every room in the house except the kitchen and the bathroom—and perhaps in the bathroom, where we could hang our towels from the mantelpiece (as gallant practical gentlemen, now some centuries dead, named it by hanging up their wet mantles) and let them warm while we were taking our baths. We go as far as any in regarding the open fire as a welcoming host in the hall an undisturbing companion in the library, an encourager of digestion in the dining room, an enlivener in the living room and a goodnight thought of hospitality in the guest chamber. But we cannot follow the essayist who speaks contemptuously of hot-water pipes. "From the security of ambush," says he, "they merely heat, and heat whose source is invisible is not to be coveted at all."

Oh, merely heat!—From the Atlantic.

A Watch and No Owner.

The owner of a Shelby county watermelon patch has found a watch therein. The watch is said to be in good condition and ready to be restored to its owner upon proving property, paying for the newspaper notice, and possibly fully explaining just how and why the watch got into the melon patch. Unless it's a mighty valuable watch we have serious doubts as to its being claimed.—St. Louis Republic.

Camera Detects Bad Eggs.

Bad eggs are unfailingly detected by the camera. This has been demonstrated in France, where experiments are being conducted with a photographic egg-testing apparatus, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The idea of utilizing the camera instead of the human eye for candling is a new one. So far it has not been carried past the laboratory stage, but even though its obstacles prevent its commercial utilization at present, it is of more than passing interest. Eggs are held in a half dozen oval holes provided in a metal plate. Their large ends point toward a common center. While intense light is passed through them they are photographed. A powerful lens is used and an exposure ranging upward to three minutes is made. The result is a picture that shows the size of the air chambers in the eggs.

Cheerful Man Always in Demand.

Give us, O give us, the man who sings at his work! Be his occupation what it may, he is equal to any of those who follow the same pursuit in silent sullenness. He will do more in the same time—he will do it better—he will persevere longer.—Carlyle.

STR. MONITOR SOLD TO CARNEGIE CO.

The Carnegie Steel company has purchased the steamer Monitor from the Diamond Coal and Coke Company for $70,000 and the steamer has now been regularly added to the towing fleet of the Carnegie company, and will be engaged in towing coal from the sixth pool of the Monongahela river to the by-product plant at Clairton. The steel company now has the Duquesne, Clairton, Monitor, M. D. Wayman and the Emily Jung in commission, and within a few days expects to have the now stern-wheel W. H. Clingerman, recently built at the Rees shops in Pittsburg.

The Monitor was built at Brownsville in 1901 at the Axton yards by W. H. Flint, for whom the steamer was originally named, is 150 on deck, 29 feet beam, 4.4 feet depth of hold and is of 221 gross tonnage. The boat is equipped with high pressure engines, cylinders 6.4 feet stroke and 17 inches in diameter.

COAL COMPANY BUYS BARGE FLEET

Capt. John F. Klein, on Friday, sold the steamer E. F. Jackson and a fleet of 21 barges to the Lyons Coal Company, of Fairmont, W. Va. Coal will be towed to the Pittsburg harbor by this company. The consideration was $27,000. The steamer was formerly used to tow a showboat for Samuel and William Bryant, and is at present in harbor at the Gallatin mine above Monongahela. The former owner of the boat will build a fancy packet which will be able to tow a showboat. The Jackson, 90 feet long, 19 feet beam, three feet deep; was built in Pittsburg in 1894, and has a tonnage of 45.

TRUE HOME TOWN PATRIOTISM

Patriotism, like other homely virtues, begins at home, It is only given to the few to serve in high places. But all of us have the opportunity to serve at home, Loyalty to the home town is the test of real patriotism. When we fail to support Home Trade and Home Industries we fail in our loyalty to our country and to ourselves. Great are the rewards of Home town Patriotism. Great are the results. It brings prosperity to us and ours, employment for all, activity in business and progress in every direction, With "Our Town First" as our slogan our progress is assured.
